Dr. Hye,

10 December 2007

I cannot begin to express my gratitude enough for your gracious contribution to the Muslim recruits currently going through their initial training here at Marine Corps Recruit Depot Parris Island. I only had the copies of the Qur'an in my hands for about an hour before I already was able to place some in the hands of recruits who were looking for them.

Since we currently have around 6,000 recruits at Parris Island, I also took the step of sharing this wonderful gift with my fellow chaplains so that they could in turn share them with the recruits under their care. These Qur'an are a perfect size for recruits to be able to keep with their personal gear, and I am sure will help keep the spiritual well-being high for Muslim recruits currently going through training.

Recruit training is a tremendous spiritual experience, and we constantly urge our recruits to make sure that they feed their spiritual needs as much as they feed their physical needs. Thank you for helping us to keep our Muslim recruits spiritually fed.

Salaam,

Chaplain John Connolly, LT, USN

Dear Dr. Abdul Hye,

The Pentagon Chaplain's Office is grateful for your graciousness in helping to provide Qurans our personnel serving here in the Pentagon community. We are thankful for the encouragement that comes from knowing that we have American citizens who want to help meet the spiritual and emotional needs of our troops.

During times of war, hostile fire and stressful vacations, people need to be able to draw strength from their respective Scriptures. The Qurans you are allowing us to purchase will help bring strength to our Muslim Soldiers and help foster understanding to others who are seeking to learn more about Islam. Your efforts are a blessing to those serving in the Pentagon and you have our sincere appreciation for your extraordinary care and support.

Sincerely,

CH (LTC) Alan Pomaville
